

New President for the Council of International Investigators

By Roy Whitehouse

Dated: May 12, 2010

Roy Whitehouse CFE. CII has been named as President Elect

Roy Whitehouse of WIS International and Windsorano Lda has recently been named as President elect of the Council of International Investigators, CII. Roy has been a member of the Council since 2000 and has been in Private practice since 1985, prior to that he was a Police officer serving in central London.

Roy will be sworn in as President at the CII's AGM in September this year which is being held in Cardiff, Wales. This is the first of the CII's AGM being held in the United Kingdom since being held in Edinburg some years ago.

Roy has been involved in the Private Detective industry for many years and has being running his company based in London and Portugal since 1992. Prior to that he ran an Investigation company in London and had previously been an Insurance Investigator after his service with the Police achieving the rank of sergeant.

Roy said, "Being voted as the President of the CII is a great honour and a chance to give back to the CII having received much fellowship over the years from some great people who are giants in the international investigation community"

Roy hopes to bring some new and exciting procedures to the CII in areas of recruitment marketing as well heightening the name of the CII throughout the commercial and legal world which in turn will bring members names and contact details direct to prospective client.

Roy succeeds the incumbent president Nancy Barber Nancy was sworn in at the CII AGM in Brisbane last year. Nancy brought with her many ideas to help modernise the CII encouraging the committees to use their office to influence and introduce new ideas helping the CII to be seen as a modern forward thinking association.

Both Roy and Nancy agree that these are difficult but exciting times for the investigation industry in general and the CII in particular, they, as all the vice presidents and board members, are committed to showing that the CII is a modern association dedicated to professionalism within the investigation industry.

Roy continued, "I am very lucky to be taking such a responsible position from Nancy, she has kept the house in order and was a safe haven for the keys of the association, I am also backed by a dedicated board of directors who between them have many years of experience and the reputation of the council at heart.

###

The Council of International Investigators is a globally positioned organization with over 300 professionals who specialize in a wide range of services. We are an international network of private detectives and investigators who provide services that include fraud, identity theft, internet investigations, corporate due diligence, security and executive protection. Our network can support investigations across international boundaries.

Our membership is comprised of the elite of the profession who provide the highest standard of services.

We are dedicated to the continuing education of our profession, respect for international standards in providing ethical and quality services for our clients. You can search our web membership directory to locate instantly a member in any part of the world. If you have any questions, comments or need information from the Council of International Investigators, you can e-mail us at office@cii2.org.

Category	Business, Legal, Security
Tags	private detectives, investigators, duediligence, detectives
Email	Click to email author
Phone	1.206.361.8869
Address	2150 N. 107th, Suite 205, Seattle, WA
City/Town	Seattle
State/Province	Washington
Zip	98133-9009
Country	United States